online format

Navigating Gender Equality in Science:

Pathways to Progress

The EPWS Annual Conference 2024 will focus on policies and practices concerning equal opportunities in Research & Innovation in the context of European research policy, following the recent elections to the EU Parliament and the expected new EU Commission: What are the new developments in EU research policy? Where will the issue of gender equality and the gender dimension in Research & Innovation rank on the agenda? What key topics are planned for the next EU Research Framework Programme?

The conference will be an opportunity for EPWS members to receive information on latest developments and topics in EU research policy, address questions to speakers actively involved and express their wishes, concerns and aspirations with regard to EU research policy and projects.
